

Melanesian Association of Theological Schools (MATS) Conference 2018

Call for Abstracts

We are soliciting abstracts for the 2018 Melanesian Association of Theological Schools (MATS) Conference to take place 17-19 July, 2018. The conference theme is “Interfaith and Ecumenical Dialogue in Melanesia.” A 250 word abstract must be submitted by Thursday, 14 March, 2018 via email to ThomasJr.Davai@pau.ac.pg.

Pacific Adventist University is inviting persons who hold, or are undertaking, a postgraduate degree in a theology-related field to present 20 minute papers that will be followed by 5 minutes of questions and discussions.

The MATS is an annual scholarly event organized by the Melanesian Association of Theological schools. The primary aim of these conferences is to explore a variety of philosophical and theological issues of significance for Melanesians. With that in mind, the presenters are encouraged to articulate their chosen topic in a way that would appeal to a wider Melanesian audience in line with the conference theme.
